OPPORTUNITY THEN:

It wasn't just a dream. It was 150 feet of copper, steel, stone, and concrete. A monument to new beginnings, new directions, new dreams.

For decades, the Lady of Liberty welcomed those dreams. More than two million people started a new life at her feet. More than two million people with courage, determination, and vision, all seeking one thing—the opportunity to express themselves in a New World.

OPPORTUNITY NOW:

Today, you want to express yourself, too. And you have your own symbol of opportunity. The Apple StyleWriter II. A get-started printer at a get-started price. With graphics that exceed all expectations and text that delivers your message expertly—all from a printer with an extra-compact design.

In fact, the StyleWriter II, like the Statue of Liberty, is an enduring work of art. It's part of the permanent industrial design collection at New York's Museum of Modern Art (MOMA). Pay a visit the next time you're in town.
