Spooks spooked. Goblins gobbled. And monsters remonstrated!

Take a bow, Daffy Duck! When Warner Bros. made 1987's The Duxorcist, their first animated theatrical short in 20 years, they chose you as the star. Next came the short Night of the Living Duck, starring you-know-who again. And now Daffy Duck's Quackbusters, a feature-length romp starring that plucky ducky paragon of zeal, that freewheeler dealer of delirium, that duck of clever devisings who's just slopping over with talent, that... Er, just a minute, please. Daffy himself is saying something. He says..."Thanks for the plug, kid. Keep the change."

Wow, a whole dime. But - hoo, hoo! - what a show. Those inventive Warner Bros. cartoonists have combined 60% new animation (including the guffaws-galore of The Duxorcist and Night of the Living Duck) with 40% classic Looney Tunes and Merrie Melodies and seamlessly woven all into Daffy Duck's Quackbusters, a duck-lectable delight about Daffy's ghost busting Ghouls 'R' Us agency. "It's supply and demand," the dethpicable spook sleuth explains. "My clients supply the ghosts. And I demand the money." Highlights include Daffy "Anything-for-a-buck" Duck pitching his wares on TV; a housecall to aid a vampy se-duck-tress; a ghost-to-ghost hookup with Zed Toppel on Frightline; and, talk about a tough crowd, crooner Daffy wow-ing a nightclub of Transylvanian baddies.

Bugs Bunny, Porky Pig, Sylvester the Cat and Tweety join this exorcise in hilarity. And voices are provided by the remarkable talent heard by 20-million people every day: Mel Blanc. The gang's all here. And so is the fun. You'll quack-up over Daffy Duck's Quackbusters!
